CLINICAL PASTORAL EDUCATION

1 Foundational Clinical Pastoral Education Unit (Level 1)

1.1 Programme Rationale

Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE) is a programme of education and formation for the professional work of spiritual/pastoral care practitioners. CPE uses an educational methodology that combines knowledge of theology/spirituality (what we believe) with knowledge of education (how we learn) with knowledge of the behavioural sciences (who we are as human beings). CPE's methodology utilises the action reflection model of learning. The action component entails practical experience in the work of spiritual/pastoral care within an appropriate setting. This care acknowledges and attends to the human condition, particularly life's spiritual dimensions. The reflection component entails the exploration, articulation and integration of the spiritual/pastoral carer's experience, the dynamics present and the theological/spiritual implications. This action reflection process is integral to the CPE participants' understanding and the formation of their spiritual/pastoral care identity and competence. CPE encourages learning from the "living human document" (Boisen).

The specific content of a CPE unit will depend upon the particular interests and needs of the students/participants and the context in which they offer spiritual/pastoral care. The learning process allows for the addressing of the particular learning goals that each student/participant identifies. The process balances the practical experience of spiritual/pastoral care, small group supervision/interaction and personal individual supervision in an integrated programme of experiential and theoretical education.

1.2 Requirements and assessment

Foundational to the CPE process is a relational learning environment, based on the development of mutual trust, respect, openness and challenge. A Clinical Pastoral Educator or Consultant (or provisional supervisors at these levels) is authorised to co-ordinate, plan and conduct a CPE programme. This supervisor will evaluate and accredit a participant's satisfactory completion of a CPE unit.

A CPE unit is a total learning process integrating clinical experience, group and individual supervision, personal and collegial reflection and directed critical reading and recording.

The following standards are to be followed to ensure the health and safety of CPE participants and Supervisors.

- 1.2.1 Each CPE unit must be under the authority of an Accredited CPE Centre and co-ordinated by a Clinical Pastoral Educator or Provisional Clinical Pastoral Educator or a Clinical Pastoral Education Consultant or provisional Clinical Pastoral Education Consultant.
- 1.2.2 A CPE unit shall normally consist of no fewer than 4 students/participants and usually no more than 6 students/participants (however circumstances may warrant exceptions to this norm e.g. 3 students/participants if insisting on 4 could mean that a unit may never become available for those applicants; or 8 students/participants if the Course Co-ordinator has the assistance of additional supervisors)
- 1.2.3 A course Coordinator working alone will supervise no more than five (5) CPE participants.
- 1.2.4 A provisional Clinical Pastoral Supervisor may supervise up to three (3) participants.
- 1.2.5 The course continues if it loses participants during the programme. If the number of participants is reduced to two (2) it is recommended that the course coordinator looks beyond the programme to provide broad peer support and/or consult with another Centre to provide a broader peer experience.
- 1.2.6 Where a group exceeds five (5) participants should a supervisor contracted for the course withdraw due to unavoidable circumstances and a replacement supervisor not be available in the Centre the Centre Director or Course Coordinator will approach the ASACPEV to provide supervisory and financial assistance.

Minimum requirements for the satisfactory completion of a CPE unit.

1.3 Required Hours

A CPE unit can be completed over a minimum of ten weeks or a maximum period of forty-four weeks. The course co-ordinator shall ensure that each CPE unit includes a minimum total of 400 hours of supervised learning in spiritual/pastoral care practice. This includes at least:-

- 1.3.1 ten hours of individual supervision
- 1.3.2 a minimum of ninety hours of group supervision
- 1.3.3 two hundred hours in a clinical placement of which 100 hours is the actual practice of spiritual/pastoral care which is directly attributable to a person or people. This can include preparing for the visit, any referral processes and formal documentation. This actual practice of spiritual/pastoral care primarily occurs in the pastoral conversation and engagement with individuals and groups. It is the responsibility of each CPE participant to keep and provide for their supervisor a record showing the time they spent in actual spiritual/pastoral care practice. (In some centres this information is available to the supervisor through the data management system.)

The remaining 100 hours may be spent observing others offering spiritual/pastoral care, preparing and delivering spiritual/pastoral rituals/services, debriefing, inter-disciplinary conferring, collegial conferring, self-care following a particularly challenging encounter, writing notes regarding a spiritual/pastoral encounter, handover, statistical recording etc. The Centre Director will be the arbitrator in regards to interpreting this standard and its application.

- 1.3.4 one hundred hours for personal reading, written reflection on experience and written course requirements.

1.4 Required Presentations:

Each CPE student/participant is required to prepare the following:

- 1.4.1 a minimum of eight reports of spiritual/pastoral care practice
- 1.4.2 learning goals statement (mutually acceptable to the student/participant and the Supervisor)
- 1.4.3 a presentation that names and explores their own theological/spiritual understanding and how their understanding informs/impacts the spiritual/pastoral care they offer
- 1.4.4 case study
- 1.4.5 midterm and final evaluations
- 1.4.6 participants may be asked to complete other papers, presentations, and journals as required.

Each participant is required to make at least eight presentations from the above, for peer and supervisor feedback in the learning group.

Requirements 1.4.1 to 1.4.5 are to be presented in the learning group. (NB the course co-ordinator will determine the number of reports from 1.4.1 to be presented in group) The remaining requirements will be presented for written supervisory annotation and discussion in individual supervision.

1.5 The following are guidelines for the Centre Director in consultation with the course co-ordinator in accrediting a CPE unit.

Participants shall be given credit for completing one unit of Clinical Pastoral Education when the Centre Director is satisfied that they have demonstrated the following:

The four phases of this cycle include professional practice, reflective practice, pastoral and theological/spiritual conceptualisation, and active experimentation.

Advanced CPE builds on all the competencies achieved in an applicant's preceding Foundational CPE unit(s). To reach this level may require a number of units at Foundational level (Level 1) before acceptance into an Advanced level (Level 2) unit. 4 Accreditation for Supervisory Responsibilities for Clinical Pastoral Supervisor (Level 1)

The Association for Supervised and Clinical Pastoral Education in Victoria Inc. (ASACPEV Inc.) welcomes your interest in supervisory education. If you are reading this section of our standards you may be considering progressing your CPE beyond Foundational and Advanced CPE into the area of Supervision.

ASACPEV Inc. supervisory education is based on experiential education. In order to gain accreditation at each of the three levels of supervision Supervisors function on a provisional basis under appropriate supervision until such time that they meet with and are accredited by an Accreditation Committee appointed by the Registration and Certification(R&C) Committee of ASACPEV. The first level of accreditation is that of Clinical Pastoral Supervisor and Standard 4 provides a detailed account of the process to be undertaken if you decide to proceed down this path.

A Clinical Pastoral Supervisor is responsible for the individual supervision of a selection of candidates who are undertaking CPE in a CPE unit coordinated either by the CPE Centre Director or the Director's delegated Course Coordinator. Those able to co-ordinate a CPE Unit are provisional or accredited Clinical Pastoral Educators (Level 2) or Consultants (Level 3). The provisional or accredited Clinical Pastoral Supervisor works within the direction of and collaboratively with the CPE Centre Director.

From the beginning you do need to understand the process will be demanding on your time and abilities. If you plan to be a Provisional Clinical Pastoral Supervisor in full-time CPE you will be required to be in training for nine to twelve months. Your involvement in part time CPE courses will require your engagement for at least eighteen months and possibly three years. You should check with the Director of the CPE Centre in which you will train to gain a clear understanding of the days and hours you will be required each week for your Provisional Clinical Pastoral Supervision training.

Those seeking to begin Clinical Pastoral Supervisory training will have demonstrated their identity as a spiritual/pastoral care practitioner and competency in the practice of spiritual/pastoral care. The candidate for supervisory training will, in consultation with their supervisor and peers, have discerned their readiness to make the transition to supervision. The emphasis of the Clinical Pastoral Supervisory level is to assist the candidate to gain a sense of supervisory identity and competency. We welcome your interest in Clinical Pastoral Supervision and encourage you to follow up your interest through discussions with your Centre Director.

9 Code of Ethics and Professional Practice

For Supervisors and Members Of The Association For Supervised And Clinical Pastoral Education In Victoria Incorporated (Asacpev Inc.)

9.1 Pre-amble

Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE) is a program of education and formation for pastoral care practitioners. The goal of CPE is that the participant will be acknowledged first hand as the bearer of the sacred and the distinctive provider of spiritual and pastoral care. This takes place primarily in clinical settings where pastoral and spiritual care is practiced. Ethics and a Code of Practice were identified as key issues and became the focus of a future directions working party in 1991. However, it was not until 1997 that it became an urgent priority. Internationally there was a growing awareness of sexual abuse issues in the church and in universities and colleges. ASACPEV recognized the need for immediate action and a subcommittee convened by Ms. Lynne Robertson pioneered a code of ethical practice and complaints procedures that was accepted by the Association at the 1998 AGM.¹

9.2 Status of the Code

In 2014 the ASACPEV Inc. Executive and Registration and Certification Committee decided it was time for a major revision of the Code of Ethics that had served the Association well for seventeen years. The new code is organized in two sections. Part A is clearly focused on ethics for all Provisional and Accredited ASACPEV Inc. Supervisory Members. Part B is for Associate and General Members of ASACPEV Inc. Many of the statements in the 1998 Code place responsibility on CPE participants as well as supervisors. ASACPEV does not have a student membership and cannot impose the ethics agreed to by Association members on those who are not members of a professional group. However ASACPEV Inc. does require that CPE Centres have a CPE Centre Code of Ethics for CPE participants and a model Code is found in appendix to Standard 8.

9.3 Ethical Principles underlying Supervision and Pastoral Practice

These Code of Ethics are based on ethical principles identified from ethical theories and frameworks. Principles such as: -

Benefice. Supervisors do what is beneficial for supervisees and assist supervisees to do what is good for the recipients of their care²

² This can include patients, clients, church members

Non-malevolence. Supervisors do not do harm to supervisees and directs supervisees from actions that would harm the recipients of their care.

Autonomy. Supervisors assist supervisees to move towards autonomy and value freedom and choice. They oversee the supervisee's respect for the self-agency of the recipients of their care.

Justice. Supervisors are respectful, fair, unbiased and equitable in how they work with supervisees and assist supervisees to be respectful, just and impartial in their work so that the recipients of their care do not suffer because of their faith, gender, race, disability or sexual orientation. Fidelity. Supervisors are faithful and loyal to the contracts that are entered into with supervisees and see that supervisees fulfil their responsibilities and keep their commitments to the recipients of their care.

9.4 Declaration of Maintenance of Standards of Supervisory practice. At the time of payment of the annual membership fee and renewal of registration as an ASACPEV member for the following 12 months, supervisory members and ordinary members shall also sign a declaration that:

- 9.4.1 The current "Code of Ethics and Professional Practice" applicable to their membership has been read and is accepted by the member as their code of ethical practice;
- 9.4.2 Provide a declaration of professional conduct indicating either that no complaints have been received in the previous 12 months, or a complaint is currently being investigated, or if a complaint has been investigated a summary of the outcome;
- 9.4.3 That they have completed the required hours of professional development for their membership status.

9.5 Part A: Code of Ethics and Professional Practice for Supervisory members -

The purpose of this Code is to establish and maintain standards of ethical behaviour for supervisors who are members of ASACPEV Inc. and to inform and protect participants seeking courses in Clinical Pastoral Education and practitioners seeking supervision. While this code cannot resolve all ethical and practice related dilemmas, it aims to provide a framework for addressing ethical issues in supervisor – supervisee relationships.

- 9.5.1 Supervisory Responsibility for Ethical awareness of Supervisees This Code requires that ASACPEV Inc. Supervisors ensure that each CPE participant³ they supervise will have received, read and signed a declaration that they have read the Code of Ethics and Professional practice of the CPE Centre in which they are training prior to their commencement in a CPE program. A CPE Centre Code of ethics will set out the ethical responsibilities of the CPE participant towards those to whom they offer pastoral care, CPE peers, Institutional staff, and themselves.

9.5.2 Human rights of all individuals

A fundamental principle that underlies all ASACPEV Inc. Supervisory practice is respect for the inherent dignity, worth, unique attributes and human rights of all individuals. CPE supervisors consider the needs and respect the values of the CPE participants they supervise, the people to whom the practitioners provide pastoral care and the CPE peers and other professional colleagues with whom the CPE participants work.

9.5.3 Limitations: personal awareness is important for Supervisors.

CPE Supervisors are involved in the selection of those they will supervise. At the selection stage of the process the supervisor should seek from applicants information that will assist them to determine the supervisory issues that may be faced in order to assist the supervisor to assess their own capacity to manage the potential supervisory issues. This includes the CPE participants' capacity to manage themselves as caregivers when those they care for are experiencing trauma, emotional crisis, and extreme stress. Supervisors may request that applicants share their personal life story in their application for Clinical Pastoral Education. The Centre Director and Supervisor need to ask whether or not the supervisor has the capacity to endure the journey of the CPE unit with this CPE participant. Factors such as early formative experiences, culture, value systems, religious or spiritual beliefs, lifestyle, sexual orientation or gender expression, and primary language should be considered at this stage to determine the appropriate supervisory alliance or appropriate referral. ASACPEV Inc. is now a multicultural and multifaith organization committed to providing education and improving the quality of pastoral care offered by spiritual caregivers of all faiths. Supervisors should only include in a CPE unit people of different faiths if they are sure the CPE supervisors and peer group, can provide an emotionally safe environment for each member of the group.

9.5.4 An environment and culture of civility and kindness.

As the CPE unit begins, the supervisor needs to establish a relationship of trust with the CPE participant, setting aside any bias or prejudice. The CPE Supervisor creates an ethical environment and culture of civility and kindness, treating CPE participants, employees, recipients of pastoral care, administrators, colleagues, referees and others with dignity and respect. This standard of conduct includes an affirmative duty to act to prevent harm. Bullying, exploitation, harassment, intimidation, manipulation, threats or violence are always morally unacceptable behaviours. These behaviours are distinct from the acknowledgement of differences, the sharing of stories and feelings, the presentation of contradiction, the request to provide clinical evidence that one has met a formulated goal, confrontation with a complaint from a recipient of care or an authority within the clinical context, and the request for transparency in a peer group setting.

9.5.5 Forming intimate relationships

A supervisor shall not become romantically or sexually involved with a CPE participant while they are engaged in a CPE unit even if both are single adults. A sexual relationship between a supervisor and a CPE participant is morally unacceptable behaviour in this Association. The Association recommends that supervisors do not become romantically or sexually involved with a CPE participant following termination of the supervisory relationship until the same length of time has elapsed as the supervisory relationship had been in place.

9.5.6 Multiple relationships

Supervisors are reminded that dual relationships can complicate and sabotage supervision. Being a line manager, psychotherapist, friend, priest or minister can bring complications to the supervision that may not be in the interest of either supervisor or CPE participant. In some situations, and working on some issues, a workplace manager can provide excellent supervision, in other situations this can impede the supervisory process.

9.5.7 Disputes between ASACPEV members

If you are a supervisory member of ASACPEV Inc. and you have a complaint against or dispute with another member of ASACPEV you should consult and follow the direction set out in Rule 8 of the Association, 'Disputes and Mediation'.

9.5.8 Initial Complaint Process

As an important aspect of learning to find their own voice, CPE participants are expected to act in the spirit of collegiality and mutual respect in addressing any complaints within the conduct of a CPE unit. Supervisors, Course Co-ordinators and Centre Directors need to encourage and facilitate this process and be attentive to an individual's capacity to fulfill this expectation in the selection process for CPE groups.

A CPE participant who wishes to make a complaint about their CPE experience or Supervisor's behaviour is required to follow the steps outlined in these Standards (See flow chart in Appendix IX):

9.5.8.1 CPE participants are required to utilize their written evaluations of supervisory conferences, journal writing, Mid-Term Evaluations and Final Evaluations as opportunities to give open and honest feedback through the unit. Any complaint a CPE participant has about a task, supervisor, relationship or assignment allocated should be documented in one of these required ongoing evaluations. Any complaint will be addressed in supervision. Should a CPE participant consider that their complaint was not adequately addressed in supervision, they will request a consultation session with another CPE supervisor or Centre Director.

- 9.5.8.2 If the CPE participant considers the complaint is still unresolved, the complaint needs to be made in writing to the Centre Director. The Centre Director will then discern the next appropriate course of action, and communicate this in writing to the complainant, bearing in mind and making reference to, actions taken to this point in time. Future action may include proceeding according to 9.5.8.3.

If the participant's supervisor is the Centre Director the participant may contact either the ASACPEV Inc. President, Vice President or Past President and request this ASACPEV Inc. representative chair a meeting with the Centre Director and themselves. Acknowledgement of receipt of written complaint and outline of process will be provided within 5 working days, informing complainant of ASACPEV's representative and suggested time frames.

- 9.5.8.3 At this stage the process of mediation between the complainant and person complained against will be utilized with the aim to bring about resolution of the complaint. Complaints about a supervisor will be managed by the Centre Director in consultation with two other Centre Directors or senior ASACPEV Inc. supervisors to determine the most appropriate process. Options may include: a change in supervisor, temporary suspension of the supervisor until the complaint is considered, or the Centre Director's attendance in any group in which the CPE participant is present until the complaint is satisfactorily resolved.

If the CPE participant's complaint relates to the performance of their supervisor, the Centre Director shall manage the Supervisor's performance. If the supervisor concerned is also the Centre Director, an ASACPEV Inc. Clinical Pastoral Education Consultant will be appointed to monitor the conduct of the unit until the complaint is satisfactorily resolved. Should the complaint pertain to the functioning of the Centre Director, ASACPEV Inc. shall engage two senior supervisors to determine the most appropriate process for resolution.

- 9.5.8.4 If the complaint is resolved to the satisfaction of the complainant and the supervisor, the Centre Director or ASACPEV Inc. representative will make a written one-page report of the process that will be signed by the three parties involved. A copy of this report will be kept in the Centre's file and included in the Centre Director's, Course Coordinator's and Supervisor's materials for their next reaccreditation review. For the purpose of confidentiality, the complainant will be de-identified in these materials.

- 9.5.8.5 Reimbursement for Professional Services.
If an ASACPEV Inc representative is engaged in the complaint process they will be paid $85 for each 60-minute session. This shall be funded by ASACPEV Inc. through the payment by CPE Centres of an additional $100.00 annual levy. This amount will be reviewed annually.
- 9.5.8.6 If the complaint is not resolved to the satisfaction of the complainant, the process is escalated to a Grievance procedure as set out in Standard 10. The Grievance procedure must be initiated within 5 working days of the completion of the Complaint process.
- 9.5.9 Maintaining Professional Relationships
Supervisors will maintain good standing in their faith or spiritual tradition. They will abide by and accurately teach the professional standards and practices established by the Federal and State Governments and the institution in which they are employed. Supervisors shall not directly or by implication claim professional qualifications that exceed actual qualifications. Supervisors shall continue their professional education and development, including participation in the meetings and activities of ASACPEV Inc.
- 9.5.10 The Conduct of Business
Supervisors will conduct their administrative responsibilities in a timely and professional manner. Centre Directors or supervisors responsible for budgets shall implement sound fiscal practices, maintain accurate financial records and protect the integrity of funds or grants entrusted to their care. They will accurately describe the CPE Centre and the educational programs offered. Publications advertising a Centre's programs shall accurately describe program expectations, including time requirements.
- 9.5.11 Confidentiality
Supervisors shall respect the confidentiality of CPE participants. All pastoral and supervisory communications shall be held in the professional confidence of the ASACPEV Inc. context of case presentation training, interpersonal group processes, individual supervision, debriefing and processes of review and accreditation to the extent permitted by Federal or State laws. Supervisors shall respect the integrity and wellbeing of the CPE participants with whom they are working. At the commencement of a training unit, supervisors will negotiate a level of confidentiality within each individual training group that is acceptable to the immediate group. Supervisors shall follow established guidelines in the design of research involving human subjects and gain approval from the institutions human research ethics committee before conducting such research.
- 9.5.12 Privacy

ASACPEV Inc. supervisors will respect and adhere to the Privacy Policy of the institution within which they are functioning. They will also familiarize themselves with the Privacy Legislation Act and the following three legislated ways in which pastoral practitioners, supervisors and participants in Clinical Pastoral Education programs can professionally gain supervision of their clinical work and also respect the privacy of individuals.

- 9.5.12.1 The Health Records Act 2001 (Vic) does accept disclosures involved when health services providers seek supervision and consultation in the context of their training or employment.
- 9.5.12.2 For the purposes of education where the documentation of cases is an essential learning process ASACPEV Inc. unambiguously recommends that it is the supervisor's responsibility to ensure that all documentation of cases be de-identified.
- 9.5.12.3 The Association further recommends that supervisors in training gain the written consent of their CPE participants when they document their supervision for purposes of accreditation.

9.5.13 The “Right to Due Process” in response to unsatisfactory performance

Underperformance, or unsatisfactory performance, is when a CPE participant is not performing their pastoral care duties in accordance with the ASACPEV standards, or not following hospital or institution policies, rules or procedures

If a CPE participant is underperforming, it is the responsibility of the supervisor to address this within supervision.

It is important that both supervisor and CPE participant have discussed and agreed on a proposed solution together, including clear and reasonable steps for improvement. The supervisor and CPE participant will document their understanding of the meeting and the outcomes; plus exchange their written evaluations of the meeting for ongoing discussion.

CPE supervisors will respect the rights of CPE participants by giving feedback, warning and education for improvement in a timely manner.

9.6 Part B: Code of Ethics and Professional Practice for ordinary members of ASACPEV

The purpose of this Code is to establish and maintain standards of ethical behaviour for ordinary members of ASACPEV Inc. and to inform and protect recipients of pastoral care. While this code cannot resolve all ethical and practice related dilemmas, it aims to provide a framework for addressing ethical issues within pastoral relationships.

- 9.6.1 Human rights of all individuals
A fundamental principle that underlies all ASACPEV Inc. member practice is respect for the inherent dignity, worth, unique attributes and human rights of all individuals. ASACPEV Members consider the needs and respect the values of the recipients of their pastoral care and other professional colleagues with whom they work.
- 9.6.2 An environment and culture of civility and kindness.
Members of ASACPEV Inc. promote an ethical environment and culture of civility and kindness, treating recipients of care, fellow employees, administrators, colleagues and others with dignity and respect. This standard of conduct includes an affirmative duty to act to prevent harm. Bullying, exploitation, harassment, intimidation, manipulation, threats or violence are always morally unacceptable behaviours.
- 9.6.3 Forming intimate relationships
A member of ASACPEV Inc. shall not become romantically or sexually involved with a recipient of their pastoral care while they are the person's pastoral practitioner even if both are single adults. A sexual relationship between a pastoral practitioner and a recipient of pastoral care is morally unacceptable behaviour in this Association. The Association recommends that members do not become romantically or sexually involved with a recipient of pastoral care following termination of the pastoral relationship until the same length of time has elapsed as the pastoral relationship had been in place.
- 9.6.4 Other multiple relationships
Members are reminded that other dual relationships also complicate and can sabotage pastoral care. Being a business partner, line manager, psychotherapist, friend, priest, or minister can bring complication to the pastoral care that may not be in the interests of either caregiver or cared for.
- 9.6.5 Disputes between ASACPEV Inc. members
If you are a member of ASACPEV Inc. and you have a complaint against or dispute with another member of ASACPEV you should consult and follow the direction set out in the Rules of the Association 8 'Disputes and Mediation'.
- 9.6.6 Maintaining Professional Relationships
Members will maintain good standing in their faith or spiritual tradition. They will abide by and accurately teach the professional standards and practices established by the Federal and State Government and the institution or hospital in which they are employed. Members shall not directly or by implication claim professional qualifications that exceed actual qualifications. 9.6.7 Confidentiality

Members shall follow established guidelines in the design of research involving human subjects and gain approval from recognized institutional review boards before conducting such research.

9.6.8 Privacy

ASACPEV Inc. members will respect and adhere to the Privacy Policy of the institution within which they are functioning. They will also familiarize themselves with the Privacy Legislation Act and the following legislated ways in which pastoral practitioners, supervisors and participants in Clinical Pastoral Education programs can professionally gain supervision of their clinical work and also respect the privacy of individuals.

9.6.8.1 The Health Records Act 2001 (Vic) does accept disclosures involved when health services providers seek supervision and consultation in the context of their training or employment.

9.6.9 Identification

Appendix IV Model Code of Ethics for CPE participants

(Insert name of CPE Centre) Code of Ethics for Professional Practice of CPE Participants.

Ethical Principles underlying Pastoral Practice

This Code of Ethics is based on ethical principles identified from ethical theories and frameworks. Principles such as:

Benefice. CPE participants do what is beneficial for the recipients of their care.

Non-malevolence. CPE participants refrain from actions that would harm the recipients of their care and their CPE peers.

Autonomy. CPE participants move towards autonomy and value freedom and choice. They respect the self-agency of the recipients of their care.

Justice. CPE participants are fair, unbiased and equitable in how they work with recipients of their care and their CPE peers. They are just and impartial in their work so that the recipients of care and peers are not discriminated against because of faith, gender, race, disability, or sexual orientation.

Fidelity. CPE participants are faithful and loyal to the contracts that are entered into with the CPE Centre and keep their commitments to the recipients of their care.

The purpose of this Code of Ethics is to establish standards of ethical behaviour for Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE) participants while they are engaged in pastoral care education within the (insert name of CPE Centre).

CPE participants shall adhere to the following Code of Ethics:

Human Rights of all individuals

CPE participants shall maintain respect for the inherent dignity, worth, unique attributes and human rights of all individuals in their care and other professional colleagues with whom they work.

An environment and culture of civility and kindness

CPE participants shall promote an ethical environment and culture of civility and kindness, treating recipients of their pastoral care, supervisors, fellow CPE participants, administrators, colleagues and others with dignity and respect. This includes an affirmative duty to act to prevent harm. Bullying, exploitation, harassment, intimidation, manipulation, threats of violence are always morally unacceptable behaviours.

Forming intimate relationships

A CPE participant shall not become romantically or sexually involved with a recipient of their pastoral care even if both parties are single adults. A sexual relationship between a CPE participant and recipient of their pastoral care is morally unacceptable behaviour within this CPE Centre. It is recommended that CPE participants do not become romantically or sexually involved with a recipient of their pastoral care following termination of the pastoral relationship for at least 6 months.

Multiple relationships

CPE participants are reminded that dual relationships can complicate or sabotage their pastoral care. Being a relative or friend for example, can bring a lack of clarity to the pastoral care role and may not be in the best interests of either caregiver or cared for. It is recommended that the CPE participant refers the person on to a member of the pastoral care team.

Disputes

A CPE participant who wishes to make a complaint about an ASACPEV Inc. Supervisor or needs to express a grievance towards an ASACPEV Inc. Supervisor is encouraged to take the steps as outlined in Standard 8.5.8 of the “Code of Ethics and Professional Practice for Supervisors and Members of the Association for Supervised Pastoral Education in Australia Incorporated”. This standard is provided in the CPE Centre Handbook.

Confidentiality

A CPE participant shall respect the confidentiality of recipients of their pastoral care. All pastoral communications shall be held in professional confidence to the extent permitted by Federal State Laws

Privacy

CPE participants will respect and adhere to the Privacy Policy of the institution within which they are attending for education or functioning within their placement/employment. CPE participants are also required to familiarize themselves with the Privacy Legislation Act. Pastoral practitioners, supervisors and participants in CPE programs can receive professional supervision of their clinical work whilst respecting the privacy of individuals as :-

1. The Health Records Act 2001 (Vic) does accept disclosures involved when health services providers seek supervision and consultation in the context of their training or employment.

and

2. For the purposes of education where the documentation of cases is an essential learning process ASACPEV Inc. unambiguously recommends that all documentation of cases be de-identified.

Identification

CPE participants will wear identification through which they are clearly identified as stipulated by the CPE Centre and institution in which they work. CPE participants will sign this document confirming they have read and understood the above Code of Ethics prior to CPE Commencement:

Appendix V Mediation Process Guidelines

At this stage the process of mediation between the complainant and person complained against will be utilized with the aim to bring about resolution of the complaint.’ -- ASACPEV Inc Standard 8.5.8.3

Mediation is a voluntary process of collaborative conflict resolution where two or more ‘parties’ meet with a mediator or a team of mediators to discuss issues, identify common ground, name and explore points of difference, listen to each other respectfully, and work together to find a resolution they both can live with. The mediator/s may meet separately with each party to hear their point of view, begin to identify potential areas for resolution, and test these ideas with the parties.

The mediator is impartial, and must be seen to be impartial by both parties. They need to be carefully chosen to avoid conflicts of interest. Using a team approach with two mediators who confer with each other and work well in tandem can help to achieve a balance of gender and other factors such as age or ethnicity.

If a support person is permitted for each party, their role is to accompany the party through the process, but not to speak for them. Support people need to be well chosen – someone who is close but not ‘too close’ emotionally to be able to hold silence even when they disagree with what is being said.

The complaints process is an integral part of the CPE process offering a way forward when disputes occur. It is important to maintain the values of ASACPEV Inc. and to honour the process of CPE while conducting the complaint process with integrity.

The Process of Mediation

1. Mediators meet with each party separately to identify issues, consider whether mediation will be appropriate, and if so begin to explore possible options for resolution. Factors to consider when deciding whether mediation will be appropriate include:

- whether both parties genuinely want to resolve the dispute
- whether the parties are able to understand and participate in the mediation process
- the level of vulnerability of either party, e.g. mental health issues
- whether either party has expressed fear of the other party, or has been harmed or threatened with violence by the other party
- any previous failed attempts at mediation
- whether the issue is substantial enough to mediate

Source: <https://www.disputes.vic.gov.au/about-us/mediation>

2. Mediation Process:

- Introduction – the aim of mediation is to find a solution we all can live with
- Ground rules to create and maintain a safe space – respectful conversation, focus on the problem not the person, commitment to listen to each other, each party can request a break when they need one, mediators may stop conversation and meet with parties separately at any time, role of support person is to support but not speak for their party.
- Confidentiality.- The mediation process needs to be conducted in a confidential manner
- Agenda – having spoken with both parties separately, the mediator/s would be able to identify issues for discussion, including shared common ground. This can be made into an agenda of topics for discussion, which can then be offered to the parties for their agreement/approval at the beginning of the mediation session. The issues will be discussed in an orderly fashion.
- Discussion – mediators can take parties through a conversation about the issues, one at a time. Parties are encouraged to listen to each other without interrupting. The mediator/s ensure that personal attacks are not allowed.
- Generating options – how might we resolve the issues?
Options may include: a change in supervisor, temporary suspension of the supervisor until the complaint is considered, or the Centre Director's attendance in any group in which the CPE participant is present until the complaint is satisfactorily resolved. If the CPE participant's complaint relates to the performance of their supervisor, the Centre Director shall manage the Supervisor's performance. If the supervisor concerned is also the Centre Director, an ASACPEV Inc. Clinical Pastoral Educator will be appointed to monitor the conduct of the unit until the complaint is satisfactorily resolved. Should the complaint pertain to the functioning of the Centre Director, ASACPEV Inc. shall engage two senior supervisors to determine the most appropriate process for resolution. (ASACPEV Inc. Standard 8.5.8.3)
- Canvassing resolutions – 'reality testing' to find outcomes that are clear, specific, easy to follow, and that will provide a lasting (durable) outcome.
- Writing up the agreement – both parties and mediator/s sign.
If the complaint is resolved to the satisfaction of the complainant and the supervisor, the Centre Director or ASACPEV Inc. representative will make a written one-page report of the process that will be signed by the three parties involved. A copy of this report will be kept in the Coordinator's and Supervisor's materials for their next reaccreditation review. For the purpose of confidentiality, the complainant will be de-identified in these materials.

Appendix VIII Guidelines for a Grievance Committee Meeting

– ASACPEV Inc. Standard 9.10

This process follows the Preliminary Meeting of the Grievance Committee in Standard 9.8.

Preliminary Grievance Committee Meeting

Following receipt of documents from [the] complainant and member complained against, the Grievance Committee will hold a preliminary meeting to decide whether to accept the grievance, refer it back for further information/clarification, or reject it. The Grievance Committee will also determine whether reasonable steps have been taken to resolve the grievance through steps outlined in 8.5.8. – (ASACPEV Inc. Standard 9.8)

The Grievance Committee Meeting Process is outlined in Standard 9.10:

If the grievance is accepted, the Grievance Committee will convene a meeting to further investigate the grievance, separately meeting with the complainant and the member complained against with their respective support persons. If appropriate, and at the discretion of the Chair of the Grievance Committee, the complainant and the person complained against may be offered an opportunity to meet together with the Grievance Committee.

New Evidence: Any new evidence brought to this meeting will be declared at the start of the meeting and the Chair of the Grievance Committee will determine if this new evidence will be accepted on the day. If accepted, the new evidence will be declared to all participants and a right of reply offered. - ASACPEV Inc. Standard 9.10

Factors to consider when convening a Grievance Committee Meeting include:

Creating a safe space – building trust – the Chair of the Committee is responsible for creating and maintaining a safe space. This means enforcing ground rules that include requesting that the parties listen to each other, and to the Committee, and refrain from personal attacks. Conflict of interest needs to be considered in choosing the members of the Committee so that fairness is maintained.

The venue – the venue needs to be neutral and accessible, private, with rooms where the Committee can meet each party separately with their support person, and another room where they can all meet together. Round tables are helpful as they are less hierarchical. Soundproofing needs to be considered. Parties should be able to speak with the Committee without fear that the other party may hear the conversation.

Stagger arrival/departure times – invite Complainant and member complained against to come at different times, allocate separate rooms where each one can be with their support person. Ensure water, tissues, etc are in each room.

The invitation letter – This letter should offer a clear outline of the process and what the Committee hopes to achieve by conducting the meeting. Date, time, venue, transport/parking info, and expected start and end times should be clearly stated.

1. If new evidence - Grievance Committee meets alone to hear new evidence.

Ideally this would be planned for, e.g. the Chair knows that new evidence has arisen since the Preliminary Meeting and he/she has determined whether the new evidence will be accepted, before any of the parties arrive at the venue. Otherwise this issue could keep parties waiting and create additional stress/anger on the day of the Committee meeting.

2. Grievance Committee meets separately with each party and their support persons to investigate the grievance

First of all the Committee needs to present a united approach with clear authority. Inviting each member to introduce themselves to the complainant/member complained about and their support person, along with a brief description of their experience/where they are from, can help. The Committee may need to ask questions of each party in order to clarify the information presented. Be mindful of time – ‘equal time’ is a good rule of thumb, as parties begin to worry about fairness and impartiality if the Committee gives more time to the other party.

If new evidence is to be discussed, it may be helpful for the Committee to explain this to the other party, as the separate conversation may take longer for this reason. Depending on what the new evidence is, a longer time may be required for a right of reply. This may delay the meeting but procedural fairness is vital to the integrity of the process.

While meeting with the parties separately, the Committee members will be able to discern whether it will be useful to invite the parties to meet with the Committee together, or whether it will be better to work with them separately. Factors that may influence this decision include the emotional fragility of either party, their willingness to listen and consider alternative points of view to their own, and the nature of the dispute itself. The Committee may like to ask each party whether they would like to meet face to face.

Investigating a complaint

Investigating a complaint with a view to making a determination about the outcome is different to mediation. For this reason, it is particularly important that both the complainant and the member complained about feel that they have been heard by the Committee.

Instead of an agreed outcome, the Committee will make a decision as to how the matter will be resolved based on the evidence presented. Investigation relies on examining the evidence and asking questions to fill in any ‘gaps’ that remain after the Preliminary Grievance Meeting.

This is best done in separate meetings with each party. Separate meetings are a useful way to discuss sensitive matters and help reduce feelings of shame in front of the other party to the complaint. It is more likely that honest conversations will occur if there is a safe and confidential conversation that allows for 'saving face'. For example a supervisor's lapse in judgment may be discussed more openly without the complainant in the room. These meetings offer an opportunity for the Committee to identify potential recommendations, and if appropriate discuss them with one or both of the parties.

Concluding the Meeting

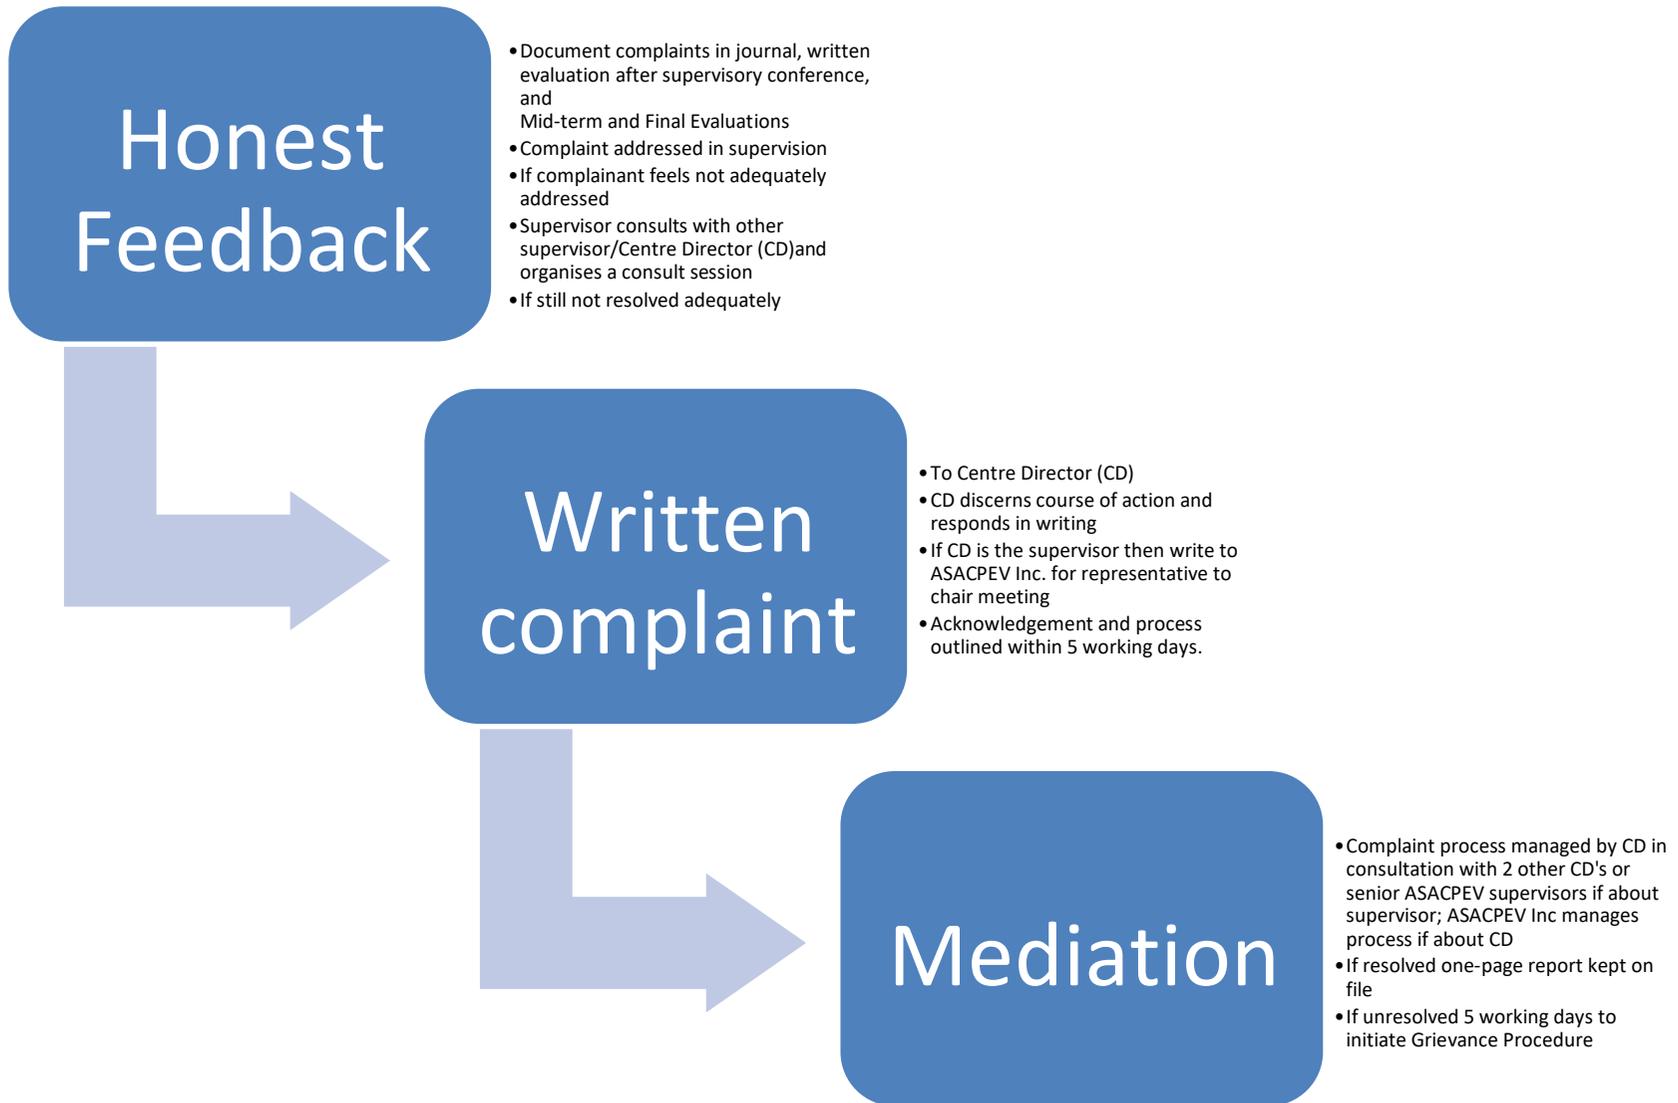

Whether the parties meet separately or together, it will be important for the Committee to conclude the meeting on a positive note. Thanking the parties and their support people for engaging with the process, reassuring them that the process is confidential and encouraging them to maintain confidentiality, and checking in with them about any outstanding questions or issues can help them leave on a positive note. The aim is to move the process to a conclusion.

Writing up the findings

Written findings are due within 14 days, and these may include recommendations for action. Findings and recommendations should be specific, including a time frame for completion. They should not come as a surprise to the parties. A 'follow-up mechanism' to ensure recommendations are followed should be included in the process.
